Moynihan's Law At Work
It must be Moynihan's Law in operation: The less reformers say is being done about a problem, the more will be. Less than a week after 40 senators complained that not enough was being done to feed the hungry in big city slums, the Agriculture Department agreed to raise its contribution to the fight against hunger by $15 million. The money will go to provide meals at day-care centers and playgrounds in the cities.

As Daniel P. Moynihan, professor and writer when he's not being a presidential adviser, put it:

One of the problems is that in American politics, certainly in recent years, one way to pursue a particular goal is to repeatedly announce that the Administration in office has abandoned it. That is the way to insure a 25 per cent increase in appropriations for the upcoming year. So if one only reads the newspapers, you could get the impression of stopping-starting jerky behavior, reversals, etc., but this is not in fact the case.

I would simply cite to you the growth in the various nutrition programs of the Federal Government from the early nineteen-sixties to the early seventies. It has been almost exponential. From a very small to a new very large program. All the while accompanied by a drumfire of anguished assertions that the whole thing was being abandoned.

The technique may be a problem to the people in office, but it's an effective way to get things done for people who are out. In fact, it may be an inescapable concomitant of a democratic system. — Pine Bluff Commercial

Turbojet Ships Are Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — With civil war threatening hundreds of Americans in Jordan, the Defense Department last fall alerted the Navy's 6th Fleet to prepare for a possible airlift.

But the fleet, steaming in the eastern Mediterranean, was short of helicopters to ferry Marines into Jordan and bring out the Americans. A task force built around the aircraft carrier Guam was dispatched quickly from Norfolk, Va.

By the time the crossing was completed—11 days later—the crisis was cooling.

Next month, in the choppy waters of Washington's Puget Sound and in the warm currents of the Gulf of Mexico, the Navy will begin testing a new type ship that could cut the long Atlantic crossing to one-fourth the time, or less.

The Navy calls them surface effect ships, turbojet-powered vessels that skim the water on a bubble of air at speeds designed for greater than 100 knots.

Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., chief of naval operations, predicts they will be the forerunner of a 100-knot navy of the future and "change the whole power relationship at sea."

With their high speeds—100 knots versus 40 knots for today's swiftest destroyers—surface effect ships will be able to outrun nuclear-powered submarines, skirt around bad weather and quickly get to the action.

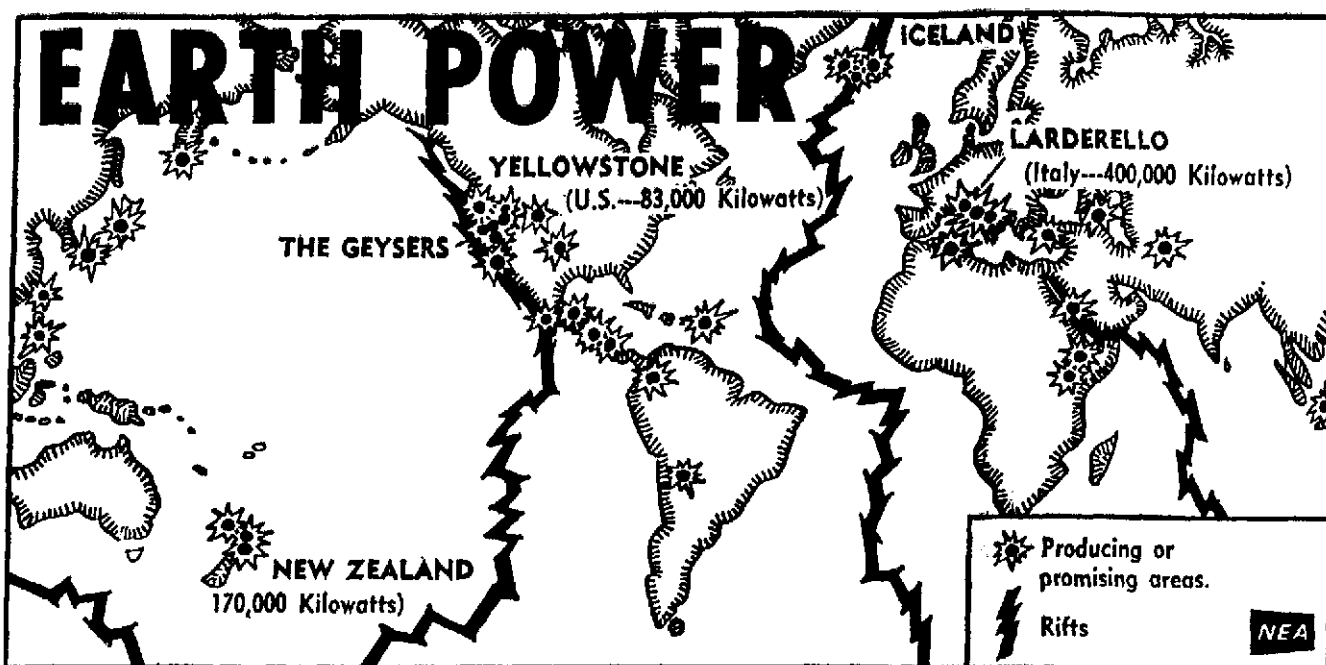

Rear Adm. William H. Livingston, director of the Navy's Air, Surface and Electronic Warfare Division, says surface effect ships, their size unlimited, could be adapted for any mission carried out by today's conventional men-of-war.

The admiral says enough already has been learned through studies to know that surface effect ships in the 4,000-to-5,000-ton range—about the size of today's destroyer escorts—are possible. To prove their feasibility, the Navy will test two 100-ton prototypes.

Each boat, about 80 feet long and 40 feet wide, costs $15 million.

HOPE, ARKANSAS, SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1971

One of nature's most abundant but as yet virtually untapped resources may be the solution to the threatening world energy shortage. It is geothermal energy, power locked in the earth, primarily in the form of hot water and steam, which can be harnessed to generate electricity. Geothermal potential exists throughout the world, but heat flow is particularly high along the great rifts under the oceans and bordering continents. "Hot spots"—volcanoes and geysers, such as Yellowstone Park's—are surface leaks and prime sites for exploitation. Geothermal energy has long been exploited in Italy, with its great Larderello fields, which still leads the world in power production. New Zealand, an area of geyser activity, is second and the United States, where The Geysers north of San Francisco has been producing since 1955, is third. Iceland also has abundant geysers, which are used to heat the capital of Reykjavik.

38 States Have Set Guidelines

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic reform commission said today 38 state parties will have complied by the end of this year with new guidelines designed to seat more political newcomers as 1972 national convention delegates.

The commission chairman, Rep. Donald M. Fraser of Minnesota, said the other 12 states and the District of Columbia have been slowed in many cases by laws and political customs.

Fraser said the 18 guidelines represent the Democratic party's most fundamental reform in a century and "demonstrate conclusively that we are the party of the people."

Their intent, he said, is to end restrictive rules and practices reformers charge have made delegate selection an in-group activity.

Fraser said the lagging states could spark credentials fights at next year's convention in Miami Beach.

They are not reluctant necessarily to go along with the new rules, he said. "They just haven't set dates for action."

The states are Alaska, California, Hawaii, Kentucky, Maryland, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Texas, West Virginia, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Illinois, he said.

"But while the 40-state goal is in sight for 1971," he said in remarks prepared for the commission, "our goal has always been full compliance by all the state Democratic parties. It will continue to be nothing less."

In an interview, however, Fraser conceded compliance by all states seems far in the future at best. He cited as an example Michigan, where precinct committeemen who serve as county convention delegates already have been elected—violating the party's requirement that all stages of the national convention delegate-selection process take place in the year of the convention.

Although the guidelines allow states to make "substantial efforts" to bring about reform, Fraser said Michigan delegates could become involved in seat-fights next year.

Mama Cass Marries a Baron

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Mama Cass" Elliott, the plump, high-spirited lead vocalist in the Mamas and the Papas, has married Donald von Wiedenman, a Bavarian baron.

The marriage occurred two weeks ago at Miss Elliott's home in Hollywood, her spokesman said Thursday, her first marriage, in 1961 to James Hendrix, a folk musician, ended in a 1969 divorce.

Both Miss Elliott and Wiedenman, a writer, are 27. She said they plan to live here two more years, then move to England.

Col. Bill Miller Is 1st Man to Serve Every Rank in State Police

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — William Calvin Miller, 46, rose to the post of director in his 22nd year of service with the State Police.

The agency now is called the Police Services Division of the Department of Public Safety, but more than the name has changed in the career of Col. Bill Miller, as he is commonly known.

"When I came into the State Police we had those old radios and if it rained your communications didn't get in," he recalls.

Even a high-voltage power line beside a highway could block an officer's radio transmissions. Communications between cars and their station was good for only about 25 miles and there was no car-to-car direct transmissions.

All that has changed in the newer, more modern State Police communications network.

Miller became acting director May 1, the effective date of the resignation of former director Ralph D. Scott. Then Miller was named director June 14.

He is, he says, the first man to serve in every rank and every division of the agency and to become director without an interruption of his career service.

Recently Miller asked the legislative auditor to conduct a special audit of the State Police because of allegations of financial wrongdoing in the department.

"I have no reason to believe that the charges are true," Miller said in interview. "But I think an audit by an outside agency is the best way to clear up the matter."

Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher of Benton was the source of the allegations, which he said had been made privately to him by troopers who did not want to be publicly identified. "I don't know whether they are true or not," Fletcher said.

News articles recently told of regular gifts from the city of Lonoke to Trooper Bill Breshers and Miller ordered the transfer of Breshers.

As grounds for the action, he cited the agency's policy manual, Section 104.180, which says: "No compensation, reward or other consideration shall be solicited or accepted by any member of the department without special permission from the director. The department expects that the activities of its members, whether routine or especially meritorious, are conducted in the line of duty and therefore are not rewarded by any material means. No member of the department shall place himself in a position in which any person can expect special consideration or in which the public can reasonably assume that special consideration is being given. He shall be firm in refusing gifts, favors or gratuities, large or small, which can, in the public mind, be interpreted as capable of influencing his judgment in the discharge of his duties."

Miller says he stands by the policy manual on such matters.

On others, he took these positions: "I will not tolerate casino gambling in Arkansas."

"I'm convinced that our social drinkers are not giving us the (traffic safety) trouble I once thought they were. Drinking is prominent in fatal accidents, probably more than 50 per cent of them. But our problem is the hard-drinker, who sits down and just guzzles."

"If someone in a neighborhood was caught burglarizing a house, his neighbors would ostracize him. If he got arrested for drunken driving, the neighbors would just laugh and say, 'Old Joe got caught,' and then forget about it. We won't be able to keep drinkers from driving until the public attitude changes."

"Licensed drivers should undergo periodic re-examination, probably every four or every six years. Some physical defects can come on very rapidly, especially in eyesight after the age of 35, and also laws change with each legislative session. Some system of rechecking drivers certainly is needed."

Man to Be Returned to Oklahoma

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Garry L. Brewer, Gov. Dale Bumpers' aide for extradition matters, said Thursday that Paul Dean Butler of Danville will be returned to the Oklahoma penitentiary to complete a sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Brewer ruled that Yell County authorities had no legal hold on Butler because Arkansas charges against Butler of obtaining money under false pretenses had been dismissed.

Brewer ordered Butler to be held for 24 hours in the Yell County Jail to give him time to arrange for the care of his two children before he is transported to Oklahoma. Brewer set a deadline of noon Saturday for Butler to be handed over to Oklahoma authorities.

Butler was brought to Arkansas from Oklahoma in May 1970 under an agreement between the governors of the two states to stand trial on charges of obtaining $30,500 from a Dardanelle investment firm by false pretenses.

Bomb Shelter Is Center for Drug Users

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — To its habitués, the psychedelically decorated former bomb shelter at historic Pearl Harbor is known as "a place where you can get your head together without danger of having it chopped off."

To the Navy, it's an arm of the Drug Awareness Control Unit.

To the men who staff it, it's "The Rap Center."

By any name, it's a far-out scene to find at one of the Navy's largest and most important naval bases, yet one which may be repeated under a growing Navy effort to combat drug use.

Inside the squat concrete bunker, floors in the series of rooms are covered with deep pile carpets, with springy sponge rubber under some. The walls are painted a stark white. Bright posters cling to the walls, their psychedelic swirls driving the eye out of focus. Pillows are strewn around for sitting, in lieu of chairs.

The relic of World War II days houses a project which played a major role in formation of the Navy's new program of aid for drug users.

The program, put into effect by Secretary of the Navy John H. Chafee last week and made public Wednesday, offers drug users in the Navy and Marine Corps exemption from punishment if they turn themselves in and cooperate in their rehabilitation.

The Army and Air Force had put amnesty programs into effect earlier.

The center at Pearl Harbor, opened June 1, attracts 40 to 50 men a day from among the base's 25,000 sailors.

"Mostly we get pill poppers and acid heads, but occasionally a hard-core heroin addict case will turn up," says Bill Illings, a 24-year-old lieutenant junior grade from St. Louis, Mo., who runs the center.

The approach by Illings and his staff of 10 enlisted men varies with each case. But one thing never changes: The visitors are guaranteed anonymity if they want it.

Most men with serious drug problems or those who hold key jobs—those Illings calls "strategically sensitive"—are encouraged to seek an exemption, the term the Navy prefers to amnesty.

Once they do, the Navy forgives them all previous drug offenses and helps them toward rehabilitation. It may also remove them from a key job if they hold one.

Railroads Idled By Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A selective strike by members of the United Transportation Union moved into its second day with two railroads idled and talks between industry and union set to resume.

The strike against the Southern and Union Pacific railroads started at 6 a.m. Friday after an all-night bargaining session between rail presidents, UTU President Charles Luna and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe proved fruitless.

The strike was over work rules and idled an estimated 48,000 workers on the two lines. It had little apparent effect on other industries Friday but promised to cause widespread problems if it continued.

The lines hit carry 23 per cent of all rail-shipped produce. Southern, which carries only a small amount of perishables, transports considerable amounts of steel, coal, gravel, bricks and other building materials.

Supervisory personnel kept the railroads' last commitments to shippers by completing interrupted runs before shutting down the lines. The Union Pacific had 121 freights running when the walkout began.

The strike was called after the UTU, which represents 190,000 train crew members aside from engineers, refused to accept industry demands for work rules changes the railroads say will make them more efficient.

The changes call for longer crew runs and eliminating special pay for such tasks as using two-way radios and making train hookups.

Rail management retaliated against the strike by imposing new work rules on lines still running. Luna said the new rules "wipe out over a hundred years of collective bargaining benefits."

One line, the Norfolk and Western, laid off many of its firemen under the new rules. Crews on other lines were riding further distances for less pay.

Will Discuss Cotton Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said Thursday he would meet with Agriculture Department officials Monday to discuss "the increasingly critical cotton supply situation."

He said the federal government has only 360,000 bales in commodity credit corporation stock and about 276,000 in loan stock. In view of the current demand, the USDA has said the stocks would be depleted at an average of 40,000 bales per week until the Aug. 1 cutoff date, Alexander said.

The USDA has said it regards as desirable the retention of at least 500,000 bales of cotton as an emergency supply, Alexander said in a prepared statement.

"I am interested in the logic of the USDA projection and plan to discuss the subject of inadequate supply of cotton stock with USDA officials," Alexander said.

Julie Andrews' Brother Charged

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Julie Andrews' brother and his wife have agreed to return to their native England on airline tickets paid for by the actress. The move is keeping them out of prison.

Christopher Stuart Andrews, 25, and his wife, Sherry Lynne, 20, made the promise Thursday to Superior Court Judge Byron McMillan after pleading guilty to possession of dangerous drugs.

The judge had given him the alternative of returning to his mother's London home or going to jail. He put Mrs. Andrews on a year's probation when she said she planned to follow her husband to England with their daughter, Judy Lynne, 5 months.

Environment Controls Praised

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Chet Huntley says he will remove his name from the Big Sky of Montana, Inc., project if environmental promises are not met.

Big Sky is a $20-million resort-recreation complex just north of Yellowstone National Park.

He said the environment controls the Chrysler Realty Corp. plans at Big Sky will leave the area in better condition than when the firm bought the land from a pulp company and rancher.

The former broadcaster added that roads in the development will fit the contour of the land to preclude any possibility of erosion and that effluents from a sewage plant would be clean enough to drink.

Mills Pushing Reforms

By QUANE KENYON
Associated Press Writer
SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., came to Sun Valley Thursday to promote plans for welfare reforms he said would help cities and states out of desperate financial predicaments.

But some of the 33 delegates attending the National Lieutenant Governors Conference remained unconvinced that the proposal now being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee would provide financial relief where it was needed most.

Mills, Committee chairman, said he is flatly opposed to direct allotments of federal funds to states "with no strings attached" as contained in President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan.

A better way, Mills said, would be to give short-term grants directly to cities and counties that could demonstrate needs.

Then he said welfare reforms could be enacted to save the states as much as $2.6 billion per year — more than they would get under the revenue-sharing plan.

After Mills appeared before the lieutenant governors to explain H.R. 1, a bill under consideration by the Ways and Means Committee, some of the delegates indicated opposition.

Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson of New York, a Republican, said he still was convinced that revenue sharing "is the best possible way to redress the present financial imbalance" which exists between federal government and state and local agencies.

"Our state and local governments are in desperate financial straits due to the spiraling costs of providing basic services and the exhaustion of their capacity to raise state and local taxes further," he said.

Wilson said he was "disappointed" by Mills' opposition to revenue-sharing, but said he was glad to hear the congressman's plans to provide direct financial relief through grants to cities and counties.

Wilson said allocation of such grants should be made by state governments, not directly to cities and counties.

Lieutenant governors of two of the largest states, Texas and Illinois, said they were working on a resolution urging the federal government to take over welfare completely and thus relieve states of what has become an impossible burden.

"We can't continue under the present welfare arrangements," said Lt. Gov. Ben J. Barnes of Texas. Barnes and Illinois Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, both Democrats planned to introduce a resolution calling for federalization of welfare.

Urge Nixon to Go to Moscow

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Democratic senators have urged President Nixon to expand his China trip to include Moscow, a side trip they say is needed to avoid an unintentional affront to the Soviet Union.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who made the suggestion separately, were joined by other senators in expressing fears that important and delicate talks with the Russians might be imperiled by too hasty a warming to China.

Russia has been silent since Nixon's announcement.

Humphrey said the Soviets have regarded China with increasing concern "and there have been serious strained relations between these countries."

He noted the critical negotiations under way between the Soviet Union and the U.S. at Helsinki, Finland, "to limit the arms race and seek agreement on both offensive and defensive nuclear weaponry."

"I would hope that the trip would be in any way detail the SALT talks," Humphrey said. "... one way to prevent that would be for the President to include Moscow on his journey."

The former vice president's remarks were echoed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who said a Russian trip would be most helpful.

"I believe direct contact between our President and the leaders of our two giant nuclear rivals could prove profoundly beneficial to all," Cranston said.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also expressed concern over the possible Soviet reaction.

But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the presidential trip reflects neither an alliance with China nor an alliance against Russia.

"It is peace that we seek, and this must be made clear to all," Stennis said.

Jackson, a member of the Armed Services panel, suggested the new diplomatic opening be used to get China into arms control negotiations.

"As I have often said, no strategic arms control agreement with a loophole as large as China could survive Chinese acquisition of a substantial nuclear force," he said.

Wants Voting in College Town

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Rep. Rudy Moore Jr. of Springdale has asked the Legislative Council staff to draft a bill to allow college students to vote in the county where they attend college.

Moore also wrote Gov. Dale Bumpers and asked him to include the bill in any special legislative session the governor might call.

Moore said in his letter to Bumpers that he felt that such a law be passed "in view of the recent passage of the 26th amendment to the U.S. Constitution allowing 18-year-olds the right to vote in all elections."

Vic Damone Files Bankruptcy

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Vic Damone says one reason he filed for bankruptcy was that he was duped into signing a $25,000 bank note.

"Unfortunately, I put considerable trust in people who took advantage of my position—both socially and financially," said Damone after the bankruptcy petition was filed in U.S. District Court.

Damone, who reportedly makes $25,000 a week for his frequent appearances here, said he faced $74,000 in debts and had only $35,371 in assets. The Internal Revenue Service was listed as his largest creditor of $27,797.

This river mail run is "the world's longest"—and perhaps the most spectacular. It's a weekly mail boat, operated by the Rivers Navigation Company, which plunges the 100 swirling miles up the white water of Idaho's Middle Snake River from Lewiston to Hells Canyon.

There are some 15 cattle and sheep ranches in the remote Canyon, served by only a few roads which at certain times of year are choked by snowdrifts or mud. The indispensable mail boat brings in letters from friends, bills for almost everything and greetings from the draft board. But it also brings the morning newspaper, the groceries, cattle feed or a child's toy. It even carries mothers-to-be to Lewiston—and later carries back home the new baby and the happy mother. Occasionally it carries sightseers for the round-trip.

For emergencies there are airplanes, private boats and four-wheel drive vehicles. But when you live in Hells Canyon you try not to have emergencies, of any kind. Although the doctor is only a day's journey away, a new toothbrush takes a week to come from Lewiston.

Wildlife Needs Are Same as Ours

What a dull place the world would be if there were no chances to make friends with a robin. Wildlife helps make the earth an exciting place. And now we are discovering that wildlife may help save the environment. Our wildlife helps provide a conservation warning system. How? When they disappear it is a sign that our environment is changing. As the water becomes polluted, our fish die. When the air is filled with smoke and fumes, our birds vanish. When our green space and countryside are paved over, the familiar wildlife is driven away.

Most folks don't realize that people need a lot of the same things that wildlife need. Most people would like to sit in the shade of a woods instead of in the shadow of a city building. When the environment for people has been taken away.

Everyone should understand that an animal sitting on a fence really has a message. It says that this place is clean enough for me, so it is still clean for you. Wildlife means a good environment, and that means that we all need wildlife.

If you would like to do something for wildlife and don't know how, contact the local office of the Soil Conservation Service in Room 212 of the Federal Building, phone 777-5561.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Information Sparse On Snuff, Pipe Use

Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—This next school year I am to teach a segment on the effects of chewing tobacco and dipping snuff. There has been lots of information on the effects of smoking, but I have very little information on chewing and dipping. We have more youngsters in junior high schools using tobacco in these forms than in smoking. Will you please tell me where I might write for some information?

Dear Reader—There is a lot less information on this problem simply because it is a lot harder to find as many snuff dippers or tobacco chewers than it is to find cigarette smokers. Your comments suggest it will soon be easier. We have the same problem with evaluating the effects of cigar and particularly pipe smoking. I would suggest that you write, U.S. Department of HEW Public Health Service, Health Services and Mental Health Administration, National Clearinghouse for Smoking and Health, Arlington, Va. 22203.

You can be certain that absorbing tobacco through the lungs, by smoke or dipping snuff or by absorption from the mouth all result in taking nicotine, which is a drug. The standard references to nicotine poisoning applies. A chronic tolerance can be developed with a form of habituation. In addition, some doctors have stated that swallowing tobacco juice may increase the incidence of cancer of the digestive tract or the bladder. It is possible that tobacco in excessive amounts may decrease sexual capacity. I can't think of anything good that it does, except support the tobacco industry, if that's good.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have heard reference made that snuff seeds fall in the drug category. Is this correct, and to what extent? What type of snuff seeds? I eat a lot of salted snuff seeds in the shell which I purchase at grocery stores. Also would breaking the shells be harmful to my teeth?

Dear Reader—There is nothing harmful in snuff seeds except the calories and the amount of fat. Fat is the source of about 80 per cent of the calories in snuff seeds. This is true of most nuts though, and the fat in snuff seeds is mostly polyunsaturated fat whereas many nuts contain large amounts of saturated fat as well.

Breaking the hulls with your teeth will not hurt you. I wouldn't recommend this, however, for other nuts. Salted seeds and nuts should be avoided by those needing to restrict their salt intake for reasons of high blood pressure or heart trouble.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

Dear Helen: My girl has five pairs of hot pants. I don't complain.

But when I picked her up and I was wearing a pair of hot pants that weren't as short as hers, she threw a fit. After all, they're sold in men's stores. She says they look obscene, men having hairy legs and muscles. And she wouldn't go out with me until I went home and changed.

Should a man be dictated to like this? —GUY

Dear Guy: It depends on who wears the pants in this twosome. —H.

Dear Helen: The other night several of us kids were swimming in our pool and this neighbor yelled over that if we didn't stop making so much noise he'd call the cops. We stopped.

So the next night, he and his wife had a big fight that lasted until after midnight, and kept everybody awake.

Did we call the cops? No! We didn't even call up and tell them to pipe down. —IS THIS FAIR?

Dear ITT: No. But I'll bet it was interesting. —H.

Dear Helen: About the girl who worried over big feet: She should cheer up—it could be worse: I not only have a size 10 foot, I also have a size 10½ foot. I have the choice of either swimming in my left shoe or folding up accordion style in my right. Please only use my initials. I'm still sensitive about my tootsies. The only time I don't hurt is when I laugh. —J.C.

Dear Helen: When I read the letter from "Tired of Playing Footsie" I was reminded about my sensitivity over big feet when I was a teenager.

Now, at 24, I envy her because you see, when I look down, there is only one size 11 foot there. I was in a dune buggy accident a year ago, and lost the other.

My fiancé (we were to be married in September) was driving the buggy. He wasn't hurt. I saw him only once after that, when he came to say he had been transferred and "would write soon." He never did, but people say he's still around town.

Tell "Tired" to count her blessings. Both of them. —ONE FOOT IN THE GRAVE

Dear Helen: I'd like to tell "Nadine" the six foot giant" that she is short by my standards. Wonder who's giving her this height complex?

If she is afraid to ask a guy to go to her queen's ball then she is going to be shy to stand up in front of the audience and receive her crown. To think that in this day, when fashions are being made for tall girls, there is a person left who is ashamed of being tall! Tell Nadine to walk proud. She isn't tall—everyone else is short! —SIX-FOOT-TWO, FEMALE, AND PROUD

Dear Helen: Our daughter, age 14 is six-foot-five-inches and wears a size 14 shoe. Because I let my height

The general looked over dummy and asked his intelligence officer, "Where is the king of clubs?"

"East has it, Sir."

"And the queen of diamonds?"

"East has that also, Sir."

"Your spies haven't actually seen those cards in the East hand, have they?"

"No Sir. They have told me that East opened the bidding and experience tells me that he would not have done so without both those cards."

The general believed his officer and was able to work out a winning plan. He started by ducking one spade to make sure that East had not started with six spades. The general won the second spade; led a diamond to dummy's king; finessed his jack of diamonds; cashed the ace of diamonds; played out the three high hearts and was ready for operation end play. He led his last spade.

America's top experts explain their tournament-winning techniques in a new 128-page book on JACOBY MODERN. For your copy sent $1 with your name, address and zip code to: "Win at Bridge," (c/o this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

East collected three more spade tricks but was now left with the king and jack of clubs and had to lead up dummy's ace-queen.

The general would have been set if East started with a singleton king of clubs but that's the sort of chance a good general must take.

What do you do now?

A—Bid six clubs. Your partner almost surely has five clubs. If he has four they are likely to be headed by ace-jack. If you pass we have no criticism.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one diamond your partner has bid one heart. What do you do now?

Questions, Answers About SS

If you have any questions regarding social security, send them to the Social Security Office, Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas, Attention: Glenda Bozeman

Q. I have been told that it is possible to file my social security claim by telephone. Is this true?

A. Yes. This is a new procedure which was designed as a convenience to the public. A person who wishes to do this should refer to his telephone directory and secure the number of his local social security office.

A call to that number will place him in touch with an interviewer who will assist in completing an application. During this conversation, the caller will be instructed on various proofs needed. The interviewer will mail the applications to the caller for signature with instructions to return with required proofs. In Texarkana the number to call is 794-3755.

Q. What is best proof of age?

A. Best proof of age is a baptismal birth record established at or soon after birth. If neither of these is available, a Federal census record, school record, Family Bible, or any other record established during early life is considered as good proof of age.

Q. What is the advantage of applying early for social security?

A. Persons who apply early will ordinarily receive their first

New Producer Aims to Fill Children's Film Gap

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The big, unsung problem with films these days is what's for the children?

Aside from the infrequent Disney product, there is nothing, unless you want to take them to the GP-rated horror or slightly sexy or gory adventure shows. It's as if the movie-makers have concluded that there are no more children.

Into this gaping void has come a picture from England which is definitely for children. The only problem is—will American children want to see it? It may be too special, too infantile. But maybe not. Time, and the check on the proper due date. For this reason we urge persons to telephone their local social security office about three months before they want their payments to start so that the first check will be on time.

Q. I am a widow who has worked under social security until recently. I am able to work, but it seems no one wants to hire a 60-year old woman. Is it possible for me to receive my social security now?

A. Since you are not disabled you cannot receive benefits on your own record until you are 62 years old. As a widow, however, you should be eligible at age 60 for reduced benefits on your husband's record, assuming of course that he was insured under social security when he died.

Goodwin says people have been trying to get the film rights to her stories for years —Disney included. His concept convinced Miss Potter's estate, and they agreed.

What Goodwin did was to get England's Royal Ballet and had Miss Potter's stories choreographed. Thus, there is not a word of dialogue in the movie. Instead, there is a beautiful orchestral background, and the Potter characters dance—you'll see squirrels and rabbits and frogs and pigs dancing away, all photographed against the background of the English box office, will tell.

The film is called "Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter." It is produced by Richard Goodwin and it is his first, Most young, ambitious producers, faced with the prospect of their film debut, try to do something shocking to gain instant notoriety.

Goodwin says he realized "there wasn't anything shocking left," so he turned to a very sweet film. It's a kind of reverse shock. This is as far removed from the usual film turned out by a young producer as Billy Graham from Charles Manson.

Not too many Americans are familiar with Beatrix Potter, but English children grow up with her stories. They are fairy stories, featuring animals that have names like Mrs. Tiggy-Winkle and Jemima Puddle-Duck.

Goodwin says people have been trying to get the film rights to her stories for years —Disney included. His concept convinced Miss Potter's estate, and they agreed.

What Goodwin did was to get England's Royal Ballet and had Miss Potter's stories choreographed. Thus, there is not a word of dialogue in the movie. Instead, there is a beautiful orchestral background, and the Potter characters dance—you'll see squirrels and rabbits and frogs and pigs dancing away, all photographed against the background of the English country side.

"I didn't want to make it too twee," Goodwin said, then explained that "twee" is a British expression for overly sweet. But it is pretty twee, and that may be a hang-up for our too-sophisticated younger generation.

The film is largely a family project. Goodwin and his wife, Christine Edzard, adapted Miss Potter's stories, and she designed the sets and costumes. Goodwin says most of the costumes and masks were made in his house.

"Our two children," he said, "were constantly complaining about pig hairs in their porridge."

Your children may complain about it, too, but maybe not. It could be the movie you've all been waiting for.

Governor Moving Out of Mainson

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. John Bell Williams says the governor's mansion is unsafe for occupancy so he's looking for new quarters for his family.

Williams said preliminary reports by an engineering firm showed a number of dangerous conditions in the 130-year-old mansion. He said the electrical wiring and natural gas installations are inadequate and that the wood framing is rotting and dry.

Racing Franchise Revoked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The greyhound racing franchise of Southland Racing Corp. at West Memphis was revoked Wednesday by the state Racing Commission.

The order was suspended, however, until Jan. 14, 1972, to allow time for Southland's principal stockholder, Emprise Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., to divest itself of all but 10 per cent of the stock it holds in Southland. The commission said the order would not take effect if by Jan. 14, 1972, Southland could demonstrate that the Emprise holdings had been reduced to 10 per cent or less.

On the other hand, if Southland is unable to demonstrate such a reduction, the suspension would cease and the order would take effect, the order said.

The 14-page order was approved on a 3-2 vote.

The order, sponsored by Dr. M. R. Springer of Hot Springs, was supported by himself and commissioners J. D. Bilberry of McGehee and Guy Newcomb of Osceola. Newcomb, an appointee of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, was chairman until replaced this year by Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Voting against Springer's order were Commissioner H. M. Orsburn of Dardanelle and J. W. "Buddy" Benefield of England, who was named chairman this year by Bumpers.

Orsburn had offered an alternative order which would not have revoked the franchise.

C. B. Nance Jr. of West Memphis, attorney for Southland said he expected the franchise-holder would go to court to contest the commission's decision. Winslow Drummond of Little Rock, representing Emprise, said a number of alternatives were available to the New York firm and he did not know which of them Emprise would pursue.

In the order, the commission expressed complaints with certain Southland actions, but chiefly was critical of Emprise. "Certainly there have recently been past associations and business associations between Emprise and persons with criminal convictions," the order said.

It also said the commission had found that Emprise has "an undesirable personal background" and that it's continued ownership of more than 10 per cent of Southland's stock "is detrimental ... to the public interest."

Emprise holds about 46.6 per cent of the stock in Southland and is by far the largest single stockholder.

The second-largest stockholders are the members of the Upton family of West Memphis. Charles Upton and his son, Richard C. Upton, both have been president of Southland. The Uptons own about 17 per cent.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

We have never been able to see the surface of Venus because the planet is covered with a dense, white cloudy atmosphere that conceals whatever is below it. The World Almanac notes that this same cloud reflects sunlight efficiently so that when Venus is favorably situated it is the third brightest object in the sky, exceeded only by the sun and the moon.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How is the height of a horse measured?
A—A horse is measured in hands, from the ground to the highest point of the withers. A hand equals four inches, the average width of a man's hand.

Q—Can hairs actually stand on end in times of stress?

A—Yes, each individual hair is connected to a muscle that allows it to stand on end.

Hope Star SPORTS

Oakland 4-0 Over Detroit

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer

The first three innings were nothing like the All-Star Game.

But the outcome was the same.

It was brilliance-as-usual for Vida Blue Friday night. Oakland's amazing left-hander, less than amazing against the National League, picked up where he left off a week ago against the Americans, blazing his way to a one-hit, 4-0 victory over Detroit for victory No. 18.

Blue allowed a pair of devasting home runs in the three

All-Star innings he worked—but won the game anyway.

The A's flamethrower, presented with a 4-0 lead in the first inning against the Tigers, proceeded to smother the opposition until Tony Taylor got their only hit, a leadoff single in the fourth, then allowed only a pair of walks—wiped out by double plays—the rest of the way.

The nine strikeouts increased

Blue's league-leading total to

197. It was also his seventh shutout of the year and second one-hitter of his career.

In other American League action Friday night, Sonny Siebert survived a ninth-inning scare to chalk up his 13th victory as Boston bombed Minnesota

9-4, the Chicago White Sox tamed Washington 2-0, the New York Yankees defeated Milwaukee 7-4, Cleveland blitzed

Kansas City 8-4 and California

squeaked by Baltimore 5-4.

In the National League, Pittsburgh nipped San Diego 2-1, St.

Louis blanked Montreal 6-0, Atlanta trounced Los Angeles 3-1,

San Francisco edged Cincinnati

4-3, the Chicago Cubs halloped

Philadelphia 11-2 and Houston, aided by a triple play, smacked

the New York Mets 9-4.

A hit batsman with the bases loaded gave Oakland its first run against Les Cain, 5-4, and Rookie George Hendrick knocked in the rest, clearing the bases with a double to right center field as the A's widened their West Division lead over

Kansas City to 12½ games.

Siebert, 13-4, was cruising along with a 9-0 lead, provided in part by two-run homers by

Rico Petrocelli, Joe Lahoud

and Reggie Smith, before Leo

Cardenas drilled a two-run shot and Jim Nettles followed with a solo job in the ninth for the Twins. Luis Aparicio clicked for four hits for the Red Sox.

Bill Melton's 21st homer, a towering two-run blast into the upper left field stands in the sixth inning, was all Tommy

John needed as the White Sox left-hander silenced the Senators on five hits.

Lindy McDaniel's solid relief pitching preserved the Yankees' triumph. He came on with the bases loaded and none out in the sixth and limited the Brewers to two hits while striking out five the rest of the way.

Homers by Ron Blomberg and

Bobby Murcer paced New York.

Rookie Kurt Bevaqua singled and scored a fourth-inning run for Cleveland, then unleashed a bases-loaded triple in the fifth to highlight the Indians' attack.

Ed Kirkpatrick hit a pair of homers for the Royals.

The Angels, snapping the 11-game winning string of Mike

Cuellar, 13-2, rocked the Baltimore left-hander with successive sixth-inning homers by Billy Cowan and Jim Spencer. But it was reliever Lloyd Allen's first major league blast in the seventh that dropped the Orioles within 4½ games of second place Boston in the East.

Mays Bowling Terrell Comes Back for Pride's Sake to Pain, Weariness

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

After 20 years in the major leagues, the "Say, Hey Kid" admits he's no kid anymore.

Willie Mays, like most human beings, bows to weariness and pain.

The slow healing process of a 40-year-old athlete took its toll two nights ago in Cincinnati

when the San Francisco star pulled out of a game due to a pained shoulder and also because he was just, plain tired.

But, say, a night's rest was all he needed because Mays was his frisky self again Friday night—collecting three hits, driving in a run and scoring two as the Giants nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3.

It was a big victory for the Giants, who are trying to win the National League West over the onrushing Los Angeles Dodgers. Atlanta spanked Los Angeles 3-1 Friday night to push

San Francisco's spread to six games.

Elsewhere in the National League, it was the Pittsburgh

Pirates 2, San Diego Padres 1;

Houston Astros 9, New York

Mets 4; St. Louis Cardinals 6,

Montreal Expos 0; Chicago

Cubs 11, Philadelphia Phillies 2.

American League scores:

Boston 9, Minnesota 4; Chicago

2, Washington 0; New York 7,

Milwaukee 4; Cleveland 8, Kansas City 4; Oakland 4, Detroit 0 and California 5, Baltimore 4.

Mays stuck doggedly in the starting lineup because of Willie McCovey's injury this season.

"I've been playing a lot while

McCovey was out because I felt

I owed it to the team," said the slugger.

But he left Thursday night's game with the Reds in the fourth inning after striking out twice. He said the pain was such that he could not swing a bat properly.

Apparently he could Friday night. He singled home a run, then scored along with Ken

Henderson as Dick Kietz ripped a two-run double in the first inning. Mays also doubled and came home on Ken Henderson's double in the fifth, then added his second two-bagger of the game in the seventh.

Jerry Johnson came out of the bullpen to put down a ninth-inning Cincinnati rally and snap the Reds' winning streak at five games.

Ralph Garr's third hit of the game, a run-scoring single in the fifth inning, broke a 1-1 tie and knuckled Phil Niekro notched his 10th victory as Atlanta stalled Los Angeles' drive toward the top.

Niekro started the two-run rally off Don Sutton when he beat out an infield single, advanced to second on a throwing error and scored the tie-breaking run when Garr singled to right. Garr then stole second and later scored from third when Hank Aaron delivered a sacrifice fly.

Bob Robertson snapped a 1-1 tie with his 17th home run in the eighth to carry the torrid

Pirates over the Padres. Robertson launched a tape-measure shot off Steve Arlin against the upper deck in left field as the Pirates won their eighth straight and built their lead to 10 game in the East.

"This club is the best team in baseball," said Robertson. "I have no doubt about that. It is so talented, I think it could overcome any kind of adversity."

Winning pitcher Bob Johnson said he got by mainly with his blazer.

"I throw mostly fast balls," said Johnson. "I probably threw 125 pitches and 1 bet at least 100 were fast balls."

Roger Metzger led a 14-hit assault with three hits and scored three runs and the Houston Astros turned in their first triple play ever to bounce the Mets.

Reggie Cleveland pitched a five-hitter and St. Louis converted two Montreal errors into four runs as the Cardinals whipped the Expos.

Ferguson Jenkins, seeking his fifth straight 20-game season, won his 14th game and hot-handed Glenn Beckert laced four hits for the third time this season as Chicago topped Philadelphia.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—When

Ernie Terrell was a loose-coupled 12-year-old boy, he would go up to the Midwest

Gym in Chicago and grow intoxicated with the smell of resin, the stench of sweat.

He would hurl a few windmill rights and lefts at the big bag, scraping his bare knuckles. This was in 1952 and it was then that he decided to become a professional boxer, as he watched his heroes, Spider Webb,

Chuck Spicer, Bobby Boyd,

train.

Ernie Terrell, after a 3½-year retirement, is back at

it. And he has a new hero.

he said, "money."

"I'm not so flabbergasted with all the big names in boxing like I used to be," he said. He sat in a small, dark room in another Chicago gym, Johnny Coulton's on 63rd Street, fastidiously tapping his black, bony hands.

"I've fought most of 'em around today, excepting Joe Frazier. I know I can beat 'em all, too. Frazier is tailor-made for me, the way he comes walking right in at you."

Terrell is 6-5 and, at 215, seven inches taller and a few pounds heavier than

Frazier. But it's Muhammad

Ali who he is truly after, he says. Terrell voluntarily retired when Ali was involuntarily retired, in 1967.

"The minute Ali came back, I did, too," said Terrell.

Ali had beaten Terrell in 1966 in a 15-round title bout.

Terrell, once the WBA

champion, would have won if Ali had not wedged a thumb in his eye early on.
